Contribution of $10,000 From Samuel Insull Is Disclosed in Inquiry at Chicago.

GANG TERRORISM ALSO IS RELATED

Sum Spent by Each Candidate Is in Excess of Condemned Newberry Outlay.

$764,794.05 Slush Fund Is Shown in Illinois
BY OSCAR HEWITT.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, July 27.—The "senatorial slush fund" committee has developed to date an aggregate expenditure of $764,794.05 on the republican side of the primary of April 13, last, with two factions yet to hear from. The missing reports will be from the Crowe-Barrett contingent and the Small-Lundin crowd. They are expected to run the grand total up to $1,034,000 and possibly to $1,125,000.
The disclosures to the close of the session late today may be summarized as follows:
Spent for Frank L. Smith—$287,282.70.
Spent for William B. McKinley—$346,616.72.
Spent for Denten ticket—$130,894.63.
Total today—$764,794.05.
The investigation also shows that $20,841.42 was spent for the democratic nominees, including the expense of George E. Brennan, candidate for United States senator.

Chicago, July 27.—(AP)—Senator William B. McKinley's unsuccessful campaign for re-nomination in the recent Illinois primary cost him personally $350,000, it was disclosed today before the senate campaign funds committee.

This compares with the $253,000 which Allen F. Moore has testified was the total expended on behalf of Frank L. Smith, who defeated McKinley. Each sum is considerably in excess of the $195,000 outlay for Truman H. Newberry in Michigan, which the senate formally condemned in the resolution by which Newberry was confirmed in his right to a seat.

Counting the $20,000 which George E. Brennan, democratic national committeeman, has told the senate investigators he spent to win the democratic senate nomination, the total expenditure in the contest for the senate developed during the two days of the inquiry here is $623,000.

This is exclusive of $129,894.63 which Roy O. West, secretary of the republican national committee, testified during the day, was spent in Cook county by the Denten faction of the republican party and which supported Senator McKinley.

West disclosed another $100,000 contribution by Samuel Insull, utility magnate, one of the Denten group, and openly charged that the Crowe-Barrett republican party faction in Cook county and George E. Brennan had a working agreement whereby they combined to support some republican candidates and some democratic candidates for county offices. He added that they usually were able to get the men they wanted.

Use of Thugs Charged.
Charging also the use of thugs and gunmen by some of the factions in Cook county primaries and elections, West told the investigators that his group before the last primary appealed to the federal government for special deputy marshals to protect

DOUBLE SLAYER TO DIE IN CHAIR ON SEPTEMBER 9

Jury Convicts Negro of Murder of Macon Couple After Ten Minutes' Deliberation.

HIRED TO KILL, GLOVER ASSERTS

Grand Jury To Probe Testimony of Defendant Involving Bars Davis, Bibb White Man.

Macon, Ga., July 27.—(AP)—Ed Glover, negro, was convicted in Bibb superior court late today of the murder of E. W. Wilson and Miss Hilda Smith on the afternoon of July 10. Glover was sentenced to die in the electric chair at the state prison farm on September 9. The jury deliberated only 10 minutes.

Glover received the verdict calmly and made no statement. Warren Grice, chief defense counsel, immediately filed a motion to arrest judgment because of technicality in the indictment, but this was immediately overruled by Judge H. A. Mathews.

Although Mr. Grice refused to make a statement, it is generally believed that the defense will file a motion for a new trial Wednesday. Glover took the stand in his own behalf after the state had rested his case. He admitted the crime, but said that Bars Davis, white man held in connection with the case, hired him to kill the couple.

The testimony of Glover concerning Davis will be placed before the special grand jury now in session some time this week, Solicitor General Charles Garrett said tonight. The grand jury is seated at present, but is subject to call and probably will be convened within a day or so, Mr. Garrett said.

FUTURES DEALING CHARGED TO WHITE

$200,000 in "Salary Account" Drafts Laid to Packer; Defense Claims Trust Fund Created.

W. H. White, Jr., former president of the White Provision company, on trial in Fulton superior court on charges of embezzling $218,012.17 of the company's money, spent large sums in dealing in futures with two local brokers, according to testimony given Tuesday by Miss Margaret B. Dickinson, his private secretary, who stated on the stand that some of the funds used by Mr. White for this purpose were kept in her name at a local bank.

Practically the entire morning and until 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when court was recessed by Judge Robert N. Hardeman, presiding in the absence of Fulton jurors on their vacation, was spent in introduction by the state of cancelled checks and vouchers on Mr. White's "salary account," totaling approximately $200,000 over a period of two years.

The defense sought to show that a trust fund had been created to which Mr. White had assigned his entire personal property, including his home, to pay his alleged indebtedness to the

MEXICO CONFLICTS TO FOLLOW LAWS AGAINST CATHOLICS

Bishop Diaz Declares That Religious Liberty In Country Will Be Defended Unceasingly.

Lynching of Mayor In Mexico Reported
Mexico City, July 27.—(AP)—The first death from violence in the present conflict between the government and the Catholic church is reported by the Agencias Calles correspondent of El Universal Grafico. He reports the lynching of the mayor of Nochistlan, state of Zacatecas, who had attacked a local Catholic priest.

BY A. W. FOLGER.
Mexico City, July 27.—Serious conflicts are possible as a result of Mexico's forthcoming enforcement of anti-religious decrees, Pasqual Diaz, bishop of Tabasco, admits.

Bishop Diaz, who is working constantly with Archbishop Mora, of Mexico, on measures calculated to combat the laws, which become effective Sunday, reiterated that Catholic leaders had no intention of inciting the people against the government, but declared that religious liberty in Mexico would be defended unceasingly. Speaking on Archbishop Mora's behalf, he condemned the religious laws as "contrary to natural rights which sanction religious liberty."

The clauses in the religious decrees and former laws which are especially objectionable to churchmen, he said, were:
First—Decrease in the number of priests permitted in any community.
Second—Making illegal any religious schools or religious orders.
Third—Making illegal the functioning of any but native priests.
Fourth—Banning celebration of religious acts outside the churches.
Fifth—Banning publication of religious comment on national political subjects or information regarding the acts of the country's authorities.
Sixth—Making effective the ancient law nationalizing church properties.
Seventh—Requiring the registration of all priests.

Rights Contravened.
"These laws appear to contravene Mexican constitutional rights," Diaz declared. "According to the opinions of eminent jurists consulted by Catholics and non-Catholics, these rights have been nullified by many clauses of the law which President

FLORIDA HURRICANE CAUSES HUGE LOSSES; SHIPPING ENDANGERED

BRITAIN AND U. S. AGREE ON PROGRAM TO HIT RUM SHIPS

Eight Recommendations Are Considered Greatest Blow Ever Struck Trans-Atlantic Bootleggers.

POOL INFORMATION ON LIQUOR SHIPS

New Regulations Are Aimed Particularly at Bahama Islands and U. S. Coast Points.

London, July 27.—(AP)—Great Britain and the United States agreed today upon measures designed to stem the tide of illicit liquor shipments flowing into America.

Brigadier General Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of its enforcement, in conference with British government officials, has framed eight recommendations and concluded the task of what is considered by unofficial observers as the greatest blow struck to trans-Atlantic bootleggers since the enactment of the Volstead law governing the 18th amendment to the constitution.

The recommendations which give an outline of the agreement between the two governments will aid General Andrews in keeping tab on rum shipments and various other activities of the smugglers. They will become effective as soon as the machinery can be set up to put the working agreement in motion.

Are Well Satisfied.
The British government as well as General Andrews seems well satisfied, the British spokesman declared the

Lady Astor Coming Home On Vacation

American-Born Heiress Expected To Visit Mrs. Chas. Dana Gibson.

London, July 27.—(AP)—Lady Astor, American-born peeress and member of the house of commons, has started for the United States "for a good long rest." But when she started and on what ship, where she is to land and how long she is to be away, her private secretary refuses to say.

"Lady Astor desires complete quiet," the secretary said this morning. "If American reporters find her when she lands, the onus won't be on my head."

Ilesbro, Maine, July 27.—(AP)—Lady Astor, who has left London and the house of commons behind, for a "good long rest," will spend next month at the summer home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, on Seven Hilled Acre Island, here.

The island is one of the group in Penobscot bay which form the town of Ilesbro.

GOODYEAR PLANT ERECTION BEGUN

Ground-Breaking Exercises for Giant Fabric Mills Held at Cedartown Tuesday.

Cedartown, Ga., July 27.—(Special.)—Following ground-breaking ceremonies Tuesday morning, a force of 120 men began work on the $2,000,000 development of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company at Cedartown, which, when completed, will be one of the largest fabric manufacturing plants of its kind in the entire United States, officials say.

Work was begun on two additional buildings at the plant, the Paragon Mills, which was purchased by the Goodyear company for the establishment of its plant. One of these buildings is 200 feet in length, 250 feet in breadth and two stories high. The smaller is 200 feet long, 150 feet wide and two stories high. These will be completed by December 1, when the plant will begin operation of 35,000 looms—running 24 hours a day. At present there are 15,000 looms turning out fabric for the Goodyear company. A large cotton warehouse will be erected on the site also.

Following exercises at the ground-breaking, a luncheon was given at the Wayside inn, at which Cedartown's mayor, A. W. Stubbs, Charles Adams, former owner of the plant, W. J. Hunkin, of the Hunkin-Conkey Construction company; E. B. Russell, editor of the Cedartown Standard, and E. F. Harkins, of the local Kiwanis club, delivered addresses of welcome. G. I. Parmenter, superintendent of the Goodyear Clearwater mill at the Cedartown plant, and E. S. Anst, counsel for the Goodyear company at Cedartown, presided.

Building Village.
Work also being Tuesday on a village of 100 houses of three to five rooms each which will be used to house the hundreds of men and women employees necessary to man the plant when it is opened December 1. The village covers a radius of 25 city blocks and will be modern and comfortable in every respect, officials of the company said.

There are 200 men and women employees at the Cedartown mills at present. When the two additional buildings have been completed 900 more employees will be added to the pay roll.

The Clearwater mill is one of the largest of its kind in the world and when fully completed will have a capacity of 100,000 pounds of fabric a day. It will be necessary to erect a cotton warehouse to serve the industry as it works continuously day and night.

Using Local Labor.
According to Goodyear officials, work on the mill will be pushed as rapidly as possible. There are 120 men employed at present in the laying of foundations and other preliminaries to actual erection of the immense building. Within the next 10 days, it was announced here today, there will be 400 employed on the job. Labor is being recruited from local ranks.

Through cooperation of the railroads, additional sidings have been installed and other facilities for shipping and receiving placed in readiness. The pay roll of the Goodyear Clearwater mills today is $3,600 a week. The increase which will result when the entire mill has been finished can readily be seen, and it is easy to realize what this new wealth will mean to the community and the section, it was pointed out at Tuesday's luncheon.

The project is one of the greatest ever undertaken in this part of the country and every aid and cooperation is being rendered by the people of this community.

Businessmen On Ground.
The Hunkin-Conkey Construction company of Cleveland, Ohio, is in charge of the Goodyear expansion at Cedartown. Supervising engineers are L. E. Den and H. S. Sivilian of the Goodyear company.

Mr. Hunkin has just returned from Europe, coming direct to Cedartown to assume personal charge of the huge project. He has expressed confidence that work on the two new buildings will be completed in ample time.

Hearing on the injunction granted by Judge Humphries is scheduled for August 7.

TWENTY YACHTS REPORTED LOST AT PALM BEACH

Miami Property and Crop Damage Expected To Exceed $100,000 as Result of Storm.

FEARS EXPRESSED FOR MANY SHIPS

Loss at Palm Beach and West Palm Beach Said To Reach $1,000,000. Ansaldo Fights Storm.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 27.—(AP)—Lower Florida east coast today suffered from the West India hurricane which originated in the Caribbean sea, struck Nassau, turned toward the Florida coast below Miami and tonight was moving up the coast with its center between Jupiter Inlet and Titusville.

Property loss that may run into the millions of dollars, damages to dwellings, crops and shipping—were left behind the storm as it moved toward the upper part of the Florida and Georgia coasts.

Property damage, chiefly to the avocado pear crop, and estimated at $100,000, was suffered by Miami. Palm Beach and West Palm Beach said the damage there would reach more than a million dollars, chiefly from the sinking of yachts in Lake Worth and the destruction of a wooden bridge over that body of water.

Ansaldo in Distress.
Definite reports of the fate of the Italian steamer Ansaldo San Giorgio Secondo, in distress off Jupiter Inlet, were lacking. The latest through the radio station at Miami said the steamer had disappeared from view of vessels that went to her assistance. The Clyde liner Seminole put into Jacksonville to escape the oncoming storm, and other vessels sought safety in harbors. Steadily falling barometer north of West Palm Beach and as far as Savannah, Ga., gave warning of the storm's approach.

Palm Beach received the full force of the hurricane in an 80-mile-an-hour wind. The barometer went to 29.63. The blow abated at 3 p. m. Ocean Drive, near the West Florida hotel, boulevard of Palm Beach, flooded by lateral waves, was said to have been badly damaged by high waves. Trees were uprooted and the roofs lifted off several houses.

Twenty Yachts Lost.
Twenty yachts, anchored at the yacht pier, broke away and were smashed. The Italian steamer Ansaldo San Giorgio Secondo caught the full force of the storm off Jupiter Inlet, and late today was fighting for its life. Five ships were in the vicinity of the Ansaldo late today, including the Italian liner Ansaldo, the Italian liner Ansaldo, the Italian liner Ansaldo, and the Italian liner Ansaldo.

Change With the Times Or Be Left far Behind

From hoopskirts to skirts about the size of a two-quart tin bucket is some transition, but we have to admit the change—and few were left behind.

From the "quiet evening at home" of thirty years ago to the amusement and entertainment customs of today is just as great a change—and again just a few were left behind.

People used to read in the afternoon and evening, now they read in the morning. It's just another of those extreme changes that come with time.

People are going to do pretty close to what suits them, and as they want to read in the morning that is one of the reasons why The Constitution goes into more homes in Atlanta and suburbs than any other Atlanta newspaper.

FUTURES DEALINGS CHARGED TO WHITE

Only 11 takers appeared in court at 9 o'clock Tuesday. E. S. Jones, a clerk, said that the case was struck down by an attack of apoplexy.

At this point Assistant Solicitor Stephens raised an objection, declaring that Mr. Conyers was arguing the case before the jury instead of merely outlining the purpose of the defense.

Mr. Conyers added: "Of course he strained his credit," "He had a family to support," the attorney added. "His means were limited and he borrowed money from banks. He got salary advances, he undertook to buy stock of associates who put it on the open market with great danger to the company's stability. I tell you this to show that the man who started and built this business was the business, and that if there were overdrafts in any account they were made in the effort to keep developing."

Following a conference between attorneys, it was decided to proceed with only 11 jurors rather than bring about another delay in the case.

Before going into the case Judge Hardman paid respect to the late Judge Alex. C. King, distinguished member of the Atlanta bar, who died Sunday in Asheville.

Under ordinary circumstances I would declare court recessed," he said, "but because of the unusual nature of this case, which is certain to be long and tedious, and because a jury has been empaneled, there will be no recess at this moment. There will be a recess in the afternoon, however, to permit lawyers engaged in the trial to attend the funeral of this beloved and distinguished Atlanta."

Chief counsel of defense, Attorney Ben J. Conyers, addressed the jury, outlining the defense, in which he brought out the career of Mr. White, who began, he said, as a penniless youth, developed a business, and worked for the prosperity of this city, state and country. Describing how Mr. White had developed the concern from a few hundred dollars' capital to a million-dollar business, Mr. Conyers declared: "Mr. White subscribed heavily to the stock."

I tell you this to show that the man who started and built this business was the business, and that if there were overdrafts in any account they were made in the effort to keep developing."

At this point Assistant Solicitor Stephens raised an objection, declaring that Mr. Conyers was arguing the case before the jury instead of merely outlining the purpose of the defense.

Mr. Conyers added: "Of course he strained his credit," "He had a family to support," the attorney added. "His means were limited and he borrowed money from banks. He got salary advances, he undertook to buy stock of associates who put it on the open market with great danger to the company's stability. I tell you this to show that the man who started and built this business was the business, and that if there were overdrafts in any account they were made in the effort to keep developing."

The Trust Company of Georgia today, he asserted.

Arthur Heyman, of the law firm of Heyman, Howell & Heyman, who had been employed as counsel for the White Provision company, was the first witness placed on the stand by the state.

He testified that he had identified minutes of stockholders of the company since his employment as counsel. Mr. White's salary, arrangements of a trust company to Mr. White's indebtedness to the company, financing of the company, dividends and other business matters pertaining to the company.

Miss Dickinson was called to the stand and asked to identify signatures on checks and vouchers and to answer questions regarding authority of Mr. White in making overdrafts. Miss Dickinson was private secretary to Mr. White from 1912 until his removal as president.

Vouchers and checks payable to Mr. White for amounts varying from $500 to $20,000, practically all of them on his "salary account," were identified by his former secretary. This evidence was directed to the prosecution to show to the jury the extent of the packing house president's overdrafts.

In January, 1925, checks dated from the month were identified by Miss Dickinson showing that approximately $20,000 had been drawn and payable to Mr. White on his "salary account." His salary, according to Mr. Heyman's testimony, was $20,000 per year.

Drafts of almost equal amounts were made in February, according to checks introduced as evidence. Most of the vouchers were signed by Mr. White, Mr. Mewborn or Miss Dickinson or E. S. Papp, a former vice president.

The checks were drawn upon accounts of the provision company and the White Realty company, an organization formed in the course of negotiations for the Miller Union stock yards.

"Miss Dickinson, did you have at any time during the year 1925 an account at the Fourth National bank?" Mr. Stephens asked.

"Yes, sir," she replied, "I opened it at the request of Mr. White."

"Have you ever deposited one penny of money in that bank on that account?" Mr. Stephens further questioned.

"No, sir, I deposited Mr. White's checks and money," Miss Dickinson replied.

Deal in Futures.

The secretary pointed out that the account was begun at the request of Mr. White in her name to be used in trading purposes with a local broker, who dealt in futures. All of the funds withdrawn from the account were authorized by Mr. White, she stated.

'KATINKA' PLEASURES AS POPULAR SHOW

"Katinka," this week's bill of the Municipal Opera association, at the Atlanta theater, is proving one of the most popular productions of the season. A typical musical comedy of the modern type, it is an ideal summer entertainment, and the company is presenting it superbly.

Vera Myers has a real opportunity as Katinka, the Russian bride, and her singing of "One Who Will Understand" and "Rakety-Go" is one of the great features of the performance. Lou Powers' impersonation of Thaddeus Hopper, the breezy American in Constantinople, is the best bit he has done this season, and Anne Yago, as Mrs. Hopper, has one of the most popular numbers in "I Want to Marry a Male Quaker."

"Katinka" is beautifully staged, and the costumes are colorful and striking. "Sari," with Louise Hunter in the leading role, will be the bill next week. It is a Hungarian operetta, with tuneful music and plenty of comedy.

"Katinka" will be continued through this week, with a matinee this afternoon and another Saturday. Seats for "Sari" go on sale tomorrow at the Atlanta theater box office.

B. Mathews, president of the company.

Conducted principally to handle deferred payment contracts on automobiles, the firm also handles similar contracts on radios and all standard makes of household and business utilities. Through its parent company, in Louisiana, it sells collateral trust notes. Atlanta was adopted as the future home of the firm because of its superior advantages, officials stated.

Other officers in the company are H. J. Grob, vice president; E. L. Chesney, secretary; H. G. Joynton, treasurer; J. W. Griffin, assistant secretary, and J. L. Poss, assistant treasurer.

Just a Minute!

Is Atlanta Different?

We're inclined to think she is. Not queer or cranky—just different enough for a little added distinction.

Rich's buyers agree that the individual taste of Madam and Miss Atlanta is certain. When they come back from their monthly buying trips they expect to find it, just as they expect to find dogwood in season, or golf enthusiasm, or Five Points.

Because they know Atlanta preference—whether applied to pillows, gowns or furniture—they make careful preparation for it. Of course they've heard that old line of talk about human nature's being the same everywhere. They match it with the equally old saw that no two leaves on a tree are exactly alike. No need to tell them that Buffalo's just the same. Or Kalamazoo. They know better.

The result is—regard for our customers' individuality.

Thirst and a taste for Coca-Cola are the same thing

Drink Coca-Cola Delicious and Refreshing

How Taste Satisfies Thirst

Thirst is a natural call for moisture. It is first registered in your palate. The sense of taste which resides there was not created only to be appeased, satisfied and delighted, but to tempt you to take what's good for you when it is good for you.

Three-fourths of you is moisture. Every move you make is using up the supply.

Because otherwise you would not drink enough to keep the moisture up to the health-level, your palate is teased and tempted.

The palate, holding recollection of flavors, is one of the most delicate sensibilities we have, and it never forgets what has especially delighted it.

Of all the hundreds of beverages offered the public which the human palate remembers, Coca-Cola is the one which has most definitely registered its taste with the public.

Ground Broken Tuesday for New Goodyear Plant at Cedartown

time for the scheduled opening December 1, declaring that with the large force of men that will be at work and the most modern equipment for construction there is no reason why every spindle in the new building should not be turning full blast on the appointed day of opening.

As the buildings are completed, installation of equipment for the manufacture of this important fabric will begin. The most modern devices for weaving the fabric will be put in use at the Goodyear plant, it is said, costing thousands of dollars, and making up a good portion of the $2,000,000 expenditure of the company on the project.

24-Hour Operation.
With the plant running 24 hours a day, working three shifts, the 35,000 spindles will be equivalent to a plant of 90,000 spindles, it is pointed out by Goodyear officials, who say this fabric factory will be one of the largest, if not the largest, of its kind in the world.

Fabric, such as is manufactured in the Cedartown plant, is an important article in the manufacture of automobile tires and similar products. A certain type and texture is required for the different grades and kinds of tires manufactured by the Goodyear company, and the greatest care and efficiency is required.

A corps of experts, some of whom are on duty at the present plant now, will direct operations, although the majority of labor will be recruited from Cedartown ranks. These experts are men trained by Goodyear and are of wide experience in this particular branch of the industry.

Americans at the conference deserved every credit for the admirable way with which they handled the discussions, while General Andrews was equally complimentary saying: "I am as pleased as I can be and only wish I could extend my visit and see more of my newly made friends here." The new regulations, aimed particularly at the Bahamas Islands, off the coast of Florida, as well as other points along the United States coast where liquor is constantly seeping through will necessarily be kept secret for some time. The first likely to know when the regulations are in actual operation and whether they will be successful will be the bootleggers who fall into the traps.

record whisky shipments and otherwise job after in movements of vessels suspected of having liquor on board.

Joint Statement Issued.
A joint statement issued after the agreement had been reached said in part:

"As vessels engaged in liquor smuggling frequently make use of the British flag and proceed from ports and places within British jurisdiction, questions have arisen from time to time between the government of the United States and his majesty's government with regard to the traffic, and it was decided that a meeting should take place in London between officials of the two governments to go fully into the matter."

As the discussion was one between officials, no question of policy or politics could arise save with a view to avoiding future difficulties.

"The discussion was therefore of a very frank nature, every fact or difficulty in the minds of either side being brought forward and discussed without reserve. Information in possession of each side was supplemented by that passed by the other and attention was concentrated on infringements of the law that have been and are being committed by persons engaged in this traffic."

"In many cases the vessel has been placed on the British register illegally and in certain cases, where they used ports or places within British colonies, there appears to be a failure to comply with the definite provisions of the law regarding clearances, quarantine and other matters."

"The object of the officials was to secure that these infractions of law shall be dealt with and shall cease. There is no question whatever of interfering in any way with legitimate trade, which should have no difficulty in distinguishing itself from illicit traffic."

Friday General Andrews goes to Paris on Saturday. He plans to sail August 4 for America.
How long he intends to stay on the job General Andrews refused to say, but nevertheless he declared that his mission to London was the greatest success in his law enforcement campaign. He added that now he has got much in the back of his head which will give the bootleggers something to think about as he puts his pincers into operation.

MEXICAN CONFLICTS RESULT FROM LAWS

Calles has dictated. Furthermore, the laws are inoperative and disturbing to the public peace.
Diaz pointed out that laws allegedly unfavorable to religious workers had existed in Mexico for a long time, but that relative peace had been maintained by non-compliance with these measures.

"Immediately upon President Calles' attempt to enforce these laws the nation expressed its discontent in every way," Diaz continued. "This discontent is actually intense and universal despite the efforts of the Mexican minister to the United States to make the American people think otherwise. The government knows that if it allowed expression of popular opinion it would be conquered."

Churches May Close.
Diaz then spoke of what may happen when the Catholic churches, retaliating against the laws, close their doors and withdraw priests from duty next Sunday.

"Sacerdotal conflicts are not impossible," he declared, "but whether they come or not it is not our intention to incite the people against the government. We intend only to fulfill our sacred duty which commands us to defend for the Mexican church the religious liberties that are enjoyed among all cultured peoples."

"It is an extraordinary measure," he said, "but perfectly legal. Above the constitution are the rights of God and the evident will of the people who feel themselves enslaved."
High churchmen, in discussing the published plan of the government to close all abandoned churches, said that this move by the government would not change the plans of the Catholics in any way.
Great crowds continue to fill the cathedral and among those seeking the services of priests are many others bringing their infants for confirmation.

archbishop of Mexico, the most Rev. Mora Y. Del Rio, fainted from exhaustion in the cathedral yesterday during the grueling hours in which he conferred about 5,000 children.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT ATHENS ENDS NEXT SATURDAY

Athens, Ga., July 27.—(AP)—With a registration of more than 1,900 students, the six weeks' session of the University of Georgia will close Saturday, July 31, after having established a record for enrollment and quality of work done. Director J. B. Stewart has announced.
While many of the students will leave Athens at the end of the six weeks' session, about 600 who are enrolled in the nine weeks' course will remain for three additional weeks.
The registration of the summer school this year is expected to break all former records. Dr. Stewart said. The largest number any summer school has ever enrolled was 2,028, and Dr. Stewart believes that the final records for the 1934 summer school will be in excess of this number.

SUMMER OPERA CLOSURES AT ATHENS.

Cracker-Vol Game Rained Out; To Play Double-Header Today

Nashville Club Will Open Series With Twin Bill As Last Stand on Spiller Field This Season—Ladies' Day Again Proves Jinx to Niehoffians.

BY DICK HAWKINS.
Another ladies' day catastrophe for the Atlanta Crackers. With the rain falling on the stands at Spiller field by the tens and twenties Tuesday afternoon, the weather man—who must be anything but a Solomon with the ladies—decided to spoil their fun and that of the Crackers also.

And he set about in a very vigorous manner to do his dirty work with the result that the ball tossers were forced from the practice field in ignominious rout and the well-known rabble announced that the game was off and that the ladies would have an opportunity—by paying for it to see the clan of Bert Niehoff's performance on Wednesday in a double-header with the Nashville Vols. The first game is to be called at 2:15.

Crackers Can't Lose.
This decision on the part of the rabble met with small approval on the part of the ladies but some of the fair ones were heard to murmur, "Well, the Crackers can't lose, anyway."

This expression of opinion may not be so far wrong though it may have the ring of pessimism. If we are not mistaken the Atlanta Crackers have won a single ball game at home on ladies' day this season.

Now being a great admirer—as all sport writers are supposed to be—of the weaker (?) sex, we would hesitate to blame the ladies for the numerous downfalls of the Niehoff boys at the Tuesday sessions in the past, but the fact remains that they have lost and lost disgracefully before the eyes of Atlanta's beauties on more than one occasion.

So by virtue of the inclement weather the Crackers are given another day to meditate over their sins of omission in the past and to plan for the double-header today while the ladies are seeking cash to defray the expenses of attending the fracas today which they might have seen for nothing yesterday.

After the game Saturday the Nashville club will bid farewell to Atlanta for rest of season, this being their last game here.

DARK HORSES ARE BEATEN BY FAVORITES

Eastern Point, Conn., July 24.—(AP) Favorites showed their heels to potential dark horses today in the opening round of match play in the eighth annual women's invitation golf tournament at the Shennecossett Country club.

Some of the stars whose names are known from coast to coast had an easy trip, while others were forced to show their best brand of golf to dispose of opponents who clung hole after hole, refusing to be banished to the beaten 16.

The first match of the day, that between Miss Maureen Orcutt, metropolitan and New Jersey champion, and Mrs. C. F. Eaton, Jr., Wellesley Hills, Mass., approached the latter type. It was also, going out at least, championship play.

Repeats Performance.
Miss Orcutt, repeating the performance that made her medalist yesterday, went out in 40. Her opponent was one down at the turn after going the first nine holes in 45. Miss Orcutt's par four to Mrs. Eaton's five, made it two up on the next hole, but the latter shot a par three for the eleventh hole to Miss Orcutt's five. They halved the next and also the fourteenth after Mrs. Eaton picked up on the thirteenth. She was three down on the fifteenth. The sixteenth was even, giving Miss Orcutt the match.

Miss Bernice Wall, Wisconsin champion, and second lowest of the qualifiers, did not have an easy first round. Miss Frances Stebbins, Newton, Mass., forcing her to the home green before she won, 2 up.

Miss Glenna Collet, who has won the tournament the last three years, had an easy time defeating Mrs. C. J. Downey, Springfield, Mass., 6 and 5. She was still off her game today, going out in 45. "Over-gilded," experts diagnosed her trouble.

Date of Bout Set For September 16 In Yankee Stadium

Gotham Promoter Scores Victory After Much Wrangling Over Title Fight—Climax Comes When Brown Switches Stand on Bout.

New York, July 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship match, pugilistic prodigal, headed back toward the old homestead, the Yankee stadium, today after previously being turned out of New York and attempting to settle in Chicago.

The state athletic commission reversed its former stand this afternoon and gave approval to the match by a vote of two to one, made possible by an unexpected switch in sentiment by Commissioner George E. Brower.

September Is Date.
Unless there is a further hitch in the homecoming, due to the still unrelenting opposition of the license commission, the match will take place at the American league ball park on Thursday, September 16. This is Tex Rickard's plan, as given official approval by the commission, and the promoter, a result, has abandoned the last ditch today, although in a minority vote.

The license commission, a separately functioning branch of the commission, has maintained its attitude of opposition right along, supporting the leadership of the commission's head, James A. Farley, who held out to the last ditch today, although in a minority vote.

As if to stiffen this opposition, following Farley's defeat by the vote of Brower and William Muldoon, the chairman of the license commission, Colonel John J. Phelan, today reiterated that the commission would refuse to grant a license for Dempsey-Tunney bout. At the same time he threatened Rickard with the loss of his own license if the promoter persisted in his present plans.

On the other hand, Brower and Muldoon contend the license board must accept the recommendations of the commission and that, at any rate, it cannot arbitrarily refuse a license to any boxer or for any bout except on strictly legal grounds.

Brower, a lawyer and former chairman of the commission, due to Farley's apparent inability to bring about a title match between the two champions at East Hampton, L. I., tomorrow.

Except for Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, it is not expected that many of the other women stars will play, owing to a conflict with the Essex county championships at Manchester, Mass., in which most of the stars are entered.

Miss Willis was operated on June 4 in Paris and discharged from the hospital June 12. Outside of a fortnight's practice at the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills, the champion has not played since his illness.

Accepts Challenge.
"The commission has accepted Will's $2,500 challenge in good faith. It has used every means at its command to bring the match about. It has led the horse to the water. It appears it cannot make him drink. I am not."

Spiller Announces Purchase of Cracker Franchise

Deal Now Certainty As Magnate Takes Advantage of Option

BY ROY E. WHITE.

Atlanta's baseball franchise will be transferred by Saturday night from Dan Michalove, present owner, to R. J. Spiller, former owner and present owner of the baseball park. That is no fact to Atlanta's sporting fans, but Mr. Spiller stated definitely Tuesday afternoon that the deal would be completed as soon as attorneys can complete details of the trade and make the papers ready for the signature.

There will be no changes in the personnel of the club, Mr. Spiller stated, at least until after the present season is over.

Just what plans are in the making is not known, but Mr. Spiller definitely put a damper on the wild rumors that have been a current topic in Atlanta during the past two weeks regarding the sale of the ball park to some commercial concern for a really development. "In the first place," Mr. Spiller said, "it would be of tremendous expense to tear away the present concrete and steel grandstand, and Atlanta will have to be assured of a place to play ball during the remainder of the season, and there is no logical place to find close in town this late in the season. There are also many other business reasons why Atlanta's baseball park probably will not be sold for several years at least."

"I will give Atlanta the same high-class baseball that it has enjoyed under Mr. Michalove's regime," Mr. Spiller stated, "and that means that the Atlanta club will always give the fans their money's worth."

Although no definite figures have been given out as the purchase price of the Atlanta franchise, it was limited to a consideration of between $50,000 and $500,000 was involved.

Valuable Atlanta franchise is said by baseball scouts from all over the country to be one of the finest minor league playing fields in the United States and it is one of the most valuable plants in the southland.

Although no definite plans have been announced by Mr. Spiller as to its future, the club would be for sale in case a price suitable to Mr. Spiller is offered. "Any man would sell any of his belongings for an amount that satisfies his judgment as to the valuation," Mr. Spiller stated, "and while the local club is not actually on the open market, it could be purchased."

In case the Atlanta franchise was placed on the open market it would be sold almost immediately, owing to the consensus of opinion in Atlanta Tuesday, and it is definitely known that both Mr. Michalove and Mr. Spiller have had numerous offers for the team since the impending sale first began to be rumored several weeks ago. Several big league teams would be glad of an opportunity to purchase the Atlanta franchise, it was stated.

Only last year the Atlanta team played to more people than any other Class AA team, and the attendance this year, while below its standard of last year, is not so far in arrears and the team is running on a profitable basis.

The valuation of the Atlanta franchise has grown in leaps and bounds. Mr. Spiller stated Tuesday afternoon that in 1918, only 10 years ago, the team franchise sold for $10,000. In 1920 the franchise was again transferred for a consideration of $25,000 and now only six years later, the price has jumped to approximately $275,000, more than 25 times the price 10 years ago.

CHICAGO BARS HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING BOUTS

Chicago, July 27.—(AP)—Whatever hope the Chicago Coliseum club had of staging a world's heavyweight championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills here in September were considerably dampened, if not ruined, by the Illinois Athletic commission here tonight when it ruled that for the immediate future no contests involving heavyweights would be allowed.

Chairman O. W. Huncke gave as his official reason that the commission did not have the supervisors available to handle a contest of that magnitude; also, that there were not sufficient funds at the commission's disposal at present to engage the necessary assistants.

The commission also ruled that no more benefit boxing shows could be held, except in rare instances of emergency relief for victims of disasters of appalling magnitude.

Boxer Fined.
The commission ruled that no complimentary tickets could be issued, except to the working press. Chairman Huncke also indicated that the price for seats would be limited to $15 for the working press.

Newspaper Tourney At West End August 2

A committee representing the three Atlanta newspapers met Tuesday night in The Constitution office and unanimously selected the West End golf course for the battle ground of the annual newspaper men's golf tournament. It was also decided to start the tournament Monday, August 2, with two days for practice and the next three days for qualifying.

The club, in offering the use of the course, has given the first five days of each week to the use of the "scribes," leaving Saturday and Sunday for the club members.

Nedana, entered in the Ohio derby at Maple Heights tomorrow, won a five-furlong dash in the mud there today in 1:01 2-5, only two-fifths of a second behind the track record. Boast-in was second and Ombrage third. Broad Axe outspurred Blarney Stone and Tickstock in the fourth race of 1 1-8 miles at Coney Island in 1:38 2-5.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Enough improvement in the southwest weather conditions was shown today to weaken cotton prices 20 to 24 points on active positions, but sufficient apprehension over the tropical storm off the Florida coast existed to promote active afternoon covering and the market closed steady at 8 to 15 points net decline.

The opening was generally 13 to 17 points net lower. Not only was the outlook for Texas and Oklahoma weather much better than the previous day, but early reports from the tropical disturbance gave the impression that it might either move easterly along the coast or be dissipated in the northwest progress. Accordingly, sellers were rather aggressive during the forenoon, forcing October contracts as low as 17.65 and the market closed at 17.70.

With the result that bull interest retired from the leadership they have enjoyed for several days and the undercurrent of the market became quite heavy.

This continued until well along into the afternoon when later advices from the south gave rather alarming news as to the progress of the big storm, suggesting the possibility of its passage across Florida and into the east gulf states, in which case a good deal of damage might occur. The covering which followed these reports ran some of the later months up to the best levels of the day, January going to 17.85.

Liverpool houses, taking the view that recent damage reports had been greatly exaggerated, were good sellers throughout the forenoon. On the other hand, houses with Japanese connections bought, supposedly taking in hedge against overnight sales of spot cotton to Japan. Wall street was also a buyer of the early decline, believing the crop has been permanently damaged in the southwest by rains and insects.

Exports today 11,585, making 8,119,206 thus far this season. Port receipts 12,606. U. S. port stocks 549,585.

PRICES REACTIONARY IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, July 27.—(AP)—The cotton market was less active today than has been the rule of late and prices developed a reactionary trend due mainly to a growing belief that the tropical storm will pass without causing any great damage in the cotton belt and to more favorable weather in the western belt. Liverpool was lower than due which strained the market off 0 to 13 points with October at 17.65. Prices eased off further during the first hour on the better weather in the western belt until levels 22 to 25 points below yesterday's close were reached. From that time on prices fluctuated narrowly and within the previous range with traders waiting news of the tropical storm. The close was near the lows of the day with active months showing net losses of 10 to 20 points. The inactive month of May closed 10 points net lower for the day.

At the start as Liverpool came in lower than due, first month shock losses of 9 to 13 points with October at 17.65. Prices proved to be the high points of the day.

Prices continued to ease off after the opening and during the first hour owing to better weather in the western belt and at the end of that period October traded down to 17.55, December to 17.37 and January to 17.25. These prices were the lows of the day.

During the rest of the session, the market fluctuated narrowly within the earlier range improving at times on fears that the tropical storm would work inland and damage the crop in the eastern belt and easing off again on lack of definite news as to the progress of the disturbance. The close was near the lows. Exports for the day totaled 12,585 bales.

GAIN IS REPORTED IN MALT MAKING

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, July 28.—A great increase in the manufacture of malt, the basis of beer, is reported by the commerce department and appears to bear out the diagnosis that production of real beer, both in the breweries and in the home, is being made more by the use of malted barley than by the use of malted wheat. The report of the commerce department, showing an increase in value of malt output of 48.4 per cent last year over 1923, comes on top of the recent evidence of increased popularity of malt tonics and the jump in sales of "wort" from which beer can be made merely by adding yeast. The increased value of the malt output, $24,000,000 as compared with $16,500,000, can hardly represent a normal growth for legitimate purposes, but apparently reflects a very substantial diversion into beer.

Prohibition officials have insisted that production of real beer is waning, though Lincoln C. Andrews, director of enforcement, told a house committee a few weeks ago that it probably reaches hundreds of millions of gallons annually. The expressed belief of a decrease in the midst of preparations for the most extensive beer drive yet made, to be led by a former military man, like Andrews, Major James C. Waddell, recently drafted into the government service. Inquiry at the prohibition unit today developed these observations:

1. Nearly all of the real beer now on the market is made by breweries licensed to make near beer.
2. A brisk home brew also is conducted.
3. "They will get tired of that, just as they did of the home-brewing which broke out after prohibition," according to J. M. Young, assistant chemist of the prohibition unit.
4. "Most of the beer drunk now comes from real breweries, those that make near beer. The government hasn't been able to watch them."
5. "There is quite a business in 'wildcat' breweries set up in cellars, found a good deal of that on a recent trip to Detroit. It is supplanting beer smuggling from Canada."
6. "The home brew is not as good as beer is decreasing, as does Prohibition Commissioner Jones. How much beer is being produced now?"
7. "Nobody can tell, of course," Young said. "I might as well ask how many people are speeding in Washington. The police can tell me how many are arrested, but no one can tell me how many are speeding."
8. Jones pointed out, in commenting on figures for malt production, that large quantities are used by bakers and a good deal is used to make industrial alcohol.
9. "One concern uses 2,400,000 gal-

PRICES STRONGER ON CURB MARKET

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Prices displayed a slightly stronger undertone in today's curb market, but the total volume of business was again under one quarter of a million shares.

The day's financial news, which included the vote of confidence given the Poincaré ministry, was largely constructive in character, the principal domestic developments being a series of favorable second quarter earnings statements.

Despite estimates of another increase of nearly 25,000 barrels in the daily average of gross crude oil production last week, the oil shares displayed a relatively firm undertone. Most of the active standard oil issues improved, practically while an advance of 1-1/2 points in New Mexico and Arizona Land, which carried it to within a fraction of its record high, featured the miscellaneous group.

With the exception of a point gain in Federal Motors, which responded to the publication of a satisfactory six months report, the motors failed to share in the speculative enthusiasm for some of those issues on the "big board." Baking issues moved higher, new and irregular limits. Coal shares were practically unchanged. Artificial silk issues were mixed. American Rayon products touching a new low at 33 3/8, while Silk jumped 4 points on a few sales.

American Sumatra Tobacco voting trust certificates rallied 3 points to a new high at 27 on the announcement that the company had harvested a large crop of high quality. Good buying also was noted in Silica Gel and Warner Bros. The latter named a new high at 14 3/4. Public Utilities moved irregularly higher, with American Super-Power as one of the active features.

STATE OFFICIALS TO PICK ROUTE FOR NEW HIGHWAY

Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway commission, and John R. Phillips, associate member of the commission, will go to Greensboro Wednesday to meet with the Greensboro county commissioners and the mayor of Greensboro to discuss the selection of a route for a new highway leading into Greensboro. The officials were invited to go to Greensboro by the mayor and the members of the county board.

Loss of alcohol a year in the manufacture of silk, he said. "The uses of alcohol in industry are increasing. Before long, it probably will supplant gasoline as a motor fuel."

Major Waddell, who still bears the bristly, energetic stamp of the military profession which he left in 1921, is optimistic over his new job, which he took upon the request of Andrews, before leaving on important business.

"In the past ten days," he said, "we have seized more breweries and brewery equipment than has been seized in any whole month previous to this time, and yet we have hardly more than started the building up of our program."

This program will include a careful checkup on breweries, heretofore not closely guarded, by the new mobile squad of 88 men who have been added to the force, he explained.

"There's no doubt that we'll clean up the situation," he said.

"Although mobile, this organization will be into the local administrator's scheme in every locality, acting in each place as reinforcement to his organization, which in every instance is also being increased."

"We expect to deal with the brewery man in a courteous, effective and positive manner, which will leave no doubt in his mind, nor in that of the public, that the breweries will not be permitted to continue making real beer."

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, July 27.—Strong arm work on the part of some five stock market leaders and various pool managers continued in such leads as General Motors, Steel common and other shares with the big outside public continuing to look on. Trading was again on a reduced scale.

Leaders of the stock market who began to build General Motors when it was selling in the high 120s were then talking 150 for the stock. That figure then seemed very high. When 150 was reached these leaders began to talk 170 which then seemed very high. Now they are talking 200 on prospects of a stock dividend with the regular dividend increased from $7 to $10 "this fall." Most of the favorable new developments now being talked are scheduled for "this fall."

Management of the pool in Chrysler has been changed from one well-known large house to another. The old managers of the pool felt that Wall street in general knew what they were doing and hence that they had gone stale. Certainly such conclusions are warranted from the recent action of Chrysler. It is understood that the new pool managers in Chrysler are going to make a big play for the pool of a year and a half ago which brought Studebaker to life after a long sleep.

Better things are also being predicted for Studebaker. According to the gossip now being heard here the management of Studebaker is optimistic over the outlook for the four new models to be introduced in the fall. Its full year's $5 dividend, it is being pointed out, during the first half of the year. It is understood that the new pool is being formed in the stock.

Copper Advances

Copper advanced another eighth of a cent today to 44 1/2. With the long of copper shares talking of that wonderful thing are going to be accomplished by the new export association with powerful international affiliations. What is needed in copper is reduced production. There are people in the financial district here usually well informed who seriously doubt that the proposed new copper export association plans will be approved by the federal trade commission. The fundamental object of the new association is to bring about an increase in domestic prices. That can be done with reduced production.

More very favorable railroad earnings statements for June and the first half of the year were published today, including one from Chicago Northwestern, Illinois Central, Northern Pacific. Stock market bears were talking today of an increase in the dividend rate of the federal reserve bank here this coming Thursday. Bankers do not expect any change in the rate in view of the very high reserve ratio of 83 reported in the last statement with the clearing house banks reporting a surplus.

"In the past ten days," he said, "we have seized more breweries and brewery equipment than has been seized in any whole month previous to this time, and yet we have hardly more than started the building up of our program."

This program will include a careful checkup on breweries, heretofore not closely guarded, by the new mobile squad of 88 men who have been added to the force, he explained.

General Motors Advances On Bull Market Session

Managers of General Motors Pool Hope to Push the Stock Up to $200, Barnum Learns.

above all requirements of $32,000,000. Careful investors in the trained Wall street class are not buying long term bonds. They are not buying many common stocks. Securities in both classes named are considered too high. Money is being put to work in good short term bonds where principal can be recovered promptly with loss when needed. Good preferred stocks are also being purchased. Attractive income returns may still be found on preferred stocks. These stocks being limited to dividends do not advance in the same ratio as common stocks. But neither do they decline as rapidly as common stocks in a bear market.

Rumors wired here from the west to the effect that National Cloak and Suit company is going into the general mail order business to compete with such houses as Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward, add to Wall street's interest in the stocks of merchandising companies. As a result of the country's very large buying power based on large employment at high rates of pay, the stocks of merchandising companies are being closely watched here. These stocks for a year or more have been well up in the list of active shares.

Mail Order Business

National Cloak and Suit has for years conducted a mail order business in its own right. It has been selling retail wearing apparel of many kinds. Today, however, women are wearing more clothes and fewer kinds of clothes. As a result, last March the quarterly dividend of $1 was passed on the stock to enable all available shareholders to receive it. The company is now doing a mail order business in house furnishings and allied articles, automobile tires and accessories, and other lines are contemplated. Thus National Cloak and Suit is following the example of other companies in adjusting their business to the drastic changes which have occurred in recent years.

This list, which is a long one, includes Du Pont, American Linseed, American Cotton Oil, Bethlehem Steel.

National Cloak and Suit common stock is high last October, selling at $4 7/8. Before the close of the year, however, the price was down to 40 1/2. This year's high was 57, made in the January boom in the stock market and the low, 20 1/2, made May 21. The decline from 54 7/8 was disappointing to the passing of the year. There has not been much of recovery in prices since last May despite the recovery in the average of 50 popular industry stocks. What the stock does from now on depends on what success the new management has in developing a general mail order business. The annual report as of Dec. 31, 1925, shows current liabilities at $2,005,000 with current assets of $2,020,000, showing the company net working capital of $7,496,000.

New York, July 27.—Demand for cotton goods continued to broaden moderately today as the high level of prices was maintained. Higher prices were paid for print cloths and sheetings, the former of 75 cents and the latter for wide goods. Yarns were in moderate demand. # INCREASE REPORTED IN PEACH SHIPMENTS

Managers of General Motors Pool Hope to Push the Stock Up to $200, Barnum Learns.

Though prices of practically all products tended downward, potatoes being especially weak. Georgia, with 2,700 cars, last week shipped double the number of peaches which came from that state during the same week in 1925, and 500 more than two years ago. During the week just past leading cities reported most lines full, watermelons being about the only product to exhibit renewed strength. The peak of the Elberta movement in Georgia has passed, especially in south Georgia, and the total output for the state decreased slightly last week from the preceding week.

Hileys and Belles from Georgia held fairly steady on the New York market at $1.25 to $1.50, while Elbertas weakened to the same level. This information, as well as a forecast that the prospects for the remainder of Georgia's peach season are promising, was contained in the weekly market review issued here by the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States department of agriculture.

The extremely hot weather, the report said, tended to stimulate consumption of watermelons and prices advanced slightly in a number of markets. Chicago closed especially strong, with 24 to 28-pound Georgia and Alabama melons bringing $2.75 to $4.25 per carload. Larger sizes touched $5.00. In the Macon section of Georgia large sized Tom Watsons were bringing only $1.50 per carload, cash track. Medium Thurmond Grays sold at $90 to $100. Georgia's weekly output dropped to 3,100.

The potato situation was characterized as continuing rather discouraging to growers and shippers, with markets extremely weak and dull. Calaloupes were also reported as having shared the past week in the general weakness of the produce markets. Demand and trading were slow, except for the best stocks.

When Justice of the Peace John J. Painter dismissed the charges at a hearing here last night, however, State's Attorney Alan Bowie announced that the decision was not acceptable and that he intended to press the charge before the county grand jury in October.

General Motors Advances On Bull Market Session

above all requirements of $32,000,000. Careful investors in the trained Wall street class are not buying long term bonds. They are not buying many common stocks. Securities in both classes named are considered too high. Money is being put to work in good short term bonds where principal can be recovered promptly with loss when needed. Good preferred stocks are also being purchased. Attractive income returns may still be found on preferred stocks. These stocks being limited to dividends do not advance in the same ratio as common stocks. But neither do they decline as rapidly as common stocks in a bear market.

Rumors wired here from the west to the effect that National Cloak and Suit company is going into the general mail order business to compete with such houses as Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward, add to Wall street's interest in the stocks of merchandising companies. As a result of the country's very large buying power based on large employment at high rates of pay, the stocks of merchandising companies are being closely watched here. These stocks for a year or more have been well up in the list of active shares.

Mail Order Business

National Cloak and Suit has for years conducted a mail order business in its own right. It has been selling retail wearing apparel of many kinds. Today, however, women are wearing more clothes and fewer kinds of clothes. As a result, last March the quarterly dividend of $1 was passed on the stock to enable all available shareholders to receive it. The company is now doing a mail order business in house furnishings and allied articles, automobile tires and accessories, and other lines are contemplated. Thus National Cloak and Suit is following the example of other companies in adjusting their business to the drastic changes which have occurred in recent years.

This list, which is a long one, includes Du Pont, American Linseed, American Cotton Oil, Bethlehem Steel.

National Cloak and Suit common stock is high last October, selling at $4 7/8. Before the close of the year, however, the price was down to 40 1/2. This year's high was 57, made in the January boom in the stock market and the low, 20 1/2, made May 21. The decline from 54 7/8 was disappointing to the passing of the year. There has not been much of recovery in prices since last May despite the recovery in the average of 50 popular industry stocks. What the stock does from now on depends on what success the new management has in developing a general mail order business. The annual report as of Dec. 31, 1925, shows current liabilities at $2,005,000 with current assets of $2,020,000, showing the company net working capital of $7,496,000.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

THE BRITISH DELAYED THEIR ATTACK ON NEW ORLEANS UNTIL THEIR ARTILLERY WAS LAID FROM THE FLEET—GENERAL JACKSON USED THIS TIME IN STRENGTHENING HIS BARRICADES UPON WHICH HE MOUNTED 13 CANNONS.

BEHIND THE BARRICADES WERE A FEW AMERICAN 'REGULARS', SOME LOUISIANA MILITIA, RIFLEMEN FROM TENNESSEE AND KENTUCKY, CITIZENS, FREE NEGROES AND FOLLOWERS OF LAFITTE, THE PIRATE OF THE LOUISIANA BAYOUS. 9-30-25

THE RED COATS ATTACKED GALLANTLY BUT WERE MOWED DOWN BY A WITHERING HAIL OF LEAD SUCH AS THEY HAD NEVER FACED BEFORE. AGAIN AND AGAIN THEY CHARGED, DYING LIKE BRAVE MEN, HEADED UP AT THE FOOT OF THE AMERICAN BARRICADE.

JACKSON LOST 13 MEN—NEVER BEFORE IN ENGLAND'S HISTORY HAD A BRITISH ARMY BEEN SO BADLY DEFEATED.

Helping To Build The SOUTH

For many years this Railroad has used daily and weekly newspapers, farm journals and widely-distributed booklets for the purpose of advertising the commercial and agricultural attractions of the territory it serves. The bulk of the circulation of these magazines and newspapers has been confined principally to the Central-West section of the country. Believing, however, that the eyes of the entire nation are on the Southland, and that the clear-thinking people of every state in the Union are looking to this great territory of milder climates and greater opportunities, this Railroad, some months ago, inaugurated a campaign of advertising in magazines of general circulation, such as The Saturday Evening Post, The Literary Digest, The National Geographic Magazine, and Review of Reviews.

These advertisements will run regularly throughout the entire year, and those which have appeared have brought inquiries from every state in the Union. These inquiries are being promptly and intelligently answered, and it is the belief of the management of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad that the South—particularly that part of the South served by "The Old Reliable"—will show remarkable and uninterrupted population increases.

Prosperity comes with increased population and this Railroad—the first great North-and-South trunk line of the nation to adopt national advertising—is doing its part to build the community in which you live.

THOUGHT MALARIA STILL IN SYSTEM

Until Dodson's Liver Tonic Drove Out Quarts of Sour Bile and Other Poisons.

There are entire sections where every one seems to think they have malaria. Others believe they never fully got the malarial poison out of their system.

Arnold Watson says: "For years I took calomel for the aches, biliousness, headache, constipation and the deadly feeling associated with what we believed to be malaria.

Last year I heard about Dodson's Liver Tonic and bought a bottle for a few cents. Man, man, what a God-send. In the morning I drove out quarts of black, sour bile. I got back my appetite for food, braced right up and haven't had a sick spell since. Whenever I feel a little bilious or my stomach gets sour, one dose of Dodson's Liver Tonic is all I need. It is surely a blessing."

Hundreds of others tell the same experience.

Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—(adv.)

DOOMED BROTHERS HEAR OF LEGACY DUKE BEQUEATHED

Lake Charles, La., July 27.—(AP).—It "seems like a dream," Robert Robert Dunn, bachelor brother confined in jail here under death sentences, declared today when questioned after it became known to the public that they expect to receive a large sum of money as their share of the estate of the late James B. Duke, tobacco magnate.

The Dunes have retained lawyers to help them prove their claim that they are heirs of the noted philanthropist. Byron Dunn asserted that his mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Duke Dunn, was a cousin of James B. Duke. He said she was the only surviving child of Robert Burns Duke, an uncle of the late multi-millionaire.

Robert and Byron Dunn were both sentenced here more than a year ago to be executed for the slaying of Sam E. Duhon, a deputy sheriff. Duhon and W. E. Collins, a federal prohibition agent, were not seen alive after they attempted to raid the Dunn home. Their bodies were found about eight miles from the Dunn home. The Dunes have taken their case to the United States supreme court on an application for a writ of error and certiorari.

35,000 Dead Veterans' Kin Will Share $12,000,000 Sum

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Dependent relatives of nearly 35,000 dead veterans of the world war who were denied the benefits of adjusted compensation because they were unable to prove their dependency will over a period of the next four years receive the sum of $12,000,000 from the government as a result of the enactment of the Green bill amending the adjusted compensation act at the recent session of congress.

Other benefits of veterans and their dependents from this new legislation obtained with the support of the American Legion will bring the total cost to the government under the bill to some $13,500,000, according to estimates of the United States veterans' bureau.

This sum is exclusive of the cost of the amendment which authorizes the payment of $60 cash in a lump sum to the dependents or beneficiaries of men killed in action or deceased before discharge. Under a very strict interpretation of the adjusted compensation act itself, this sum had been deducted even in these cases for the bonus paid each soldier, sailor or marine upon discharge, although obviously no such bonus had ever been paid in these instances.

The old proof of dependency clause was eliminated by the Green bill. Under the law as interpreted by the government, parents of deceased veterans were required to submit to lengthy and humiliating affidavits as to their financial condition in order to collect compensation for the death of their sons, according to Watson B. Miller, chairman of the legion's national rehabilitation committee. Many parents preferred to undergo hardship rather than this humiliation, he said.

Cases of dependency disallowed under the old law for lack of proof totaled some 33,286. Compensation payments now made possible will entail an expenditure of $11,772,200, according to government estimates.

Widows of veterans who died between May 19 and July 1, 1924, without making application for compensation, may now apply in their stead. Two thousand persons are expected to be affected by this provision at an estimated government cost in excess of $1,000,000.

Payment of some $249,526 in 358 cases where a veteran died while his compensation application was in the mail is authorized.

Claims on account of any indebtedness to the United States were under the new law forgiven to 1,300 veterans. They will benefit to the amount of $108,386 by the law.

STATE GASOLINE TAXES SET NEW HIGH RECORD

Gasoline taxes collected for the second quarter of 1926 for county highway work amounted to $401,079, the largest amount yet collected for any one quarter since the tax was imposed according to information obtained at the state treasury department Tuesday.

Under a plan of matching federal and state aid road money with gasoline tax money 14 Georgia counties received approximately $4,000 each under the distribution. This would provide an average of $16,000 a year if the present rate of tax collections is maintained.

OFFICIALS ARE ASKED TO SUBMIT DIGESTS

RAIN WON'T DELAY LAKEWOOD RACES FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Rain today will not interfere with "The Ten Commandments" contest or the races scheduled for the children's matinee this afternoon at Lakewood Amusement park, it was announced Tuesday by Oscar Mills, secretary-manager of the park and Southeastern Fair association.

In case of rain, the contest will be held in the dance casino and the races to pick the couriers of the "queen of curls" will be run barefooted to preserve the polished floors and guard contestants against skidding on its smooth surface. If the afternoon is fair, the races will be held on the midway and the contest to find the boy or girl most informed on the Ten Commandments will be held in the Lakewood air-dome where the photoplay, "The Ten Commandments" will be shown tonight and tomorrow night. Entries to all amusements at the park and to "The Ten Commandments" are among the prizes to be awarded.

Rev. Sam Small, Rev. Luke Rader, evangelist and pastor of the Central Baptist church, and Rev. Marvin Williams, pastor of Wesley Memorial church, are to be judges in the Ten Commandments contest.

—The Largest Queen Quality Shoe Dept. in the World

When I got married and went to housekeeping," says Mrs. Pearl Tabor, of Candler, N. C., "my mother told me to get a package of Black-Draught and keep some on hand for biliousness and constipation. That was fifteen years ago, and since that time I have very rarely been without it.

"I have found it the best relief for constipation I can get. It leaves no bad after-effects, and a dose now and then keeps the system rid of impurities which would accumulate and cause serious trouble.

"Occasionally I have had spells of headache and sour stomach. When I notice a spell of this kind coming on, I begin taking Black-Draught. I take a dose every night for several days, just a pinch of the powder, and I soon find I'm quite all right.

"If my color has become yellow, which it often does, it clears up right away after taking Black-Draught. I'm rosy and cheerful again.

"I have found Black-Draught invaluable in raising my family. My mother has used Black-Draught for thirty-five years, and she thinks there is nothing like it. She has used it frequently during that time and she thinks she can't get along without it. I certainly can recommend it for it has saved me many a bad spell.

Thousands of families keep a package of Black-Draught in the medicine chest, for prompt use when needed. To take a dose of Black-Draught at the first sign of constipation is not half as disagreeable as the symptoms which will soon develop if the trouble be neglected. Constipation is the forerunner of too many serious ills to be neglected. Do not neglect yours, but get a package of Black-Draught at once. Sold by druggists. JA-54.

Boys and Girls Are Eligible To Woman's Club Scholarships

The scholarship committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, of which Mrs. C. T. Wilson is chairman, will meet Monday, August 9, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of awarding scholarships given through the club. Applicants are requested to be present, in order that final awards may be made. These scholarships are necessarily limited to boys and girls of this state. References must accompany all applications.

The scholarship division is one of the most important departments and the members study very carefully the needs of each pupil presenting an application, in order to pick out the best school suited to his or her talents and future development. Naturally, the committee wishes also to award scholarships to those boys and girls who will reflect credit on the teacher or college so generously giving this wonderful opportunity to our young people. The entire club body takes pride and interest in its wards, and regular inspection of their reports and standing in the various schools are made and discussed in the executive meetings.

Available Scholarships.
Scholarships to the following schools and classes are available: Woodberry hall, University School for Boys, Marietta college, Georgia Military academy, Mrs. Merrill Hutchinson, Miss Nellie Sullivan, dancing class; Miss Margaret Bryan, dancing class, one girl and one boy; Miss Dorothy Waldman, piano instructor; Atlanta Beauty institute, Misses Van Hook, Washington seminary, Mrs. Potter Spiker, Bryan-Hatton business college.
Letters should be addressed to Mrs. C. T. Wilson, scholarship chairman, Atlanta Woman's club, 946 Peachtree street. As schools open in September, and time is limited, those seeking enrollment in these splendid institutions should send in their requests at once.

Ice Water at Market.
The market committee of the Woman's club, with Mrs. Harold Roberts chairman, cooperating with the market manager and the holders of booths, have succeeded in having ice water installed at the municipal market on Edgewood avenue.
"The market now affords all the comforts of home," said Mrs. Roberts, "to those housewives desiring to stock their larders under one roof. We have parking space for all automobiles, street cars pass the doors and we are in easy walking distance of downtown shops. The building is well heated in the winter and well ventilated in the summer. There are public scales and a postoffice station for the convenience of patrons."
Fresh vegetables are obtainable at all times, fresh fruits, grapes, plums, watermelons, cantaloupes and all staple groceries. Home-made tasty cider for sale is an added inducement. Picnickers may obtain all kinds of home-made relishes, eggs for deviling and plump, juicy milk-fed fryers. Prices are fair and reasonable.
Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president of the club, makes weekly visits to the market and is in constant touch with the farmers and stores operating there. She has been assured by the manager and the inspector that all the meats and vegetables offered for sale are strictly fresh, and the best that can be purchased. Members of the club are requested to patronize this organization when possible. It is an asset to the city and out-of-town visitors will enjoy a trip through it.

Artists on Program.
Miss Helen Battle, gifted vocal soloist, will entertain the guests at the Atlanta Woman's club tea on Friday afternoon with several musical numbers. Her talented sister, Miss Marian Battle, will be her accompanist.
Mrs. G. H. Westerburg, of New York, the guest of Mrs. W. H. Bedard, co-chairman of the music division of the club, will be complimented at tea by her hostess.
Reservations for many large bridge-tees and swimming parties have been received, and a large number of out-of-town guests will be present. It is requested that all reservations be given in before Thursday noon.
Official hostesses include Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president; Mrs. John R. Hornady, Mrs. Delos Hill, Mrs. E. V. Carter, Mrs. J. A. Carlisle, Mrs. D. F. Stevenson, Mrs. Eva S. Corrigan, Mrs. W. D. Williamson and Mrs. Joel Hunter, auditor.

Now Phyllis Has Rosy Cheeks

I always liked Phyllis and I felt sorry for her. She never had many good times. Just pale and "washed out." Tired easily. Never went in for sports like the rest of us. But now, why? Never saw such a change! I hardly knew her. She had gained five pounds. She'd been playing tennis and, honestly, she looked like to be alive!
"What have you done to yourself?" I demanded. "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," she laughed. "I'm also taking the Pills for Constipation. Better try them yourself!"

Life's Sunny Afternoon

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be."

WITH her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have learned through their own experience the merit of this dependable medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

A woman in Nebraska was troubled with headaches for fifteen years. She writes, "I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have felt my health steadily improving. Today, after taking your medicine for almost a year and a half, I believe I can say the headaches have left me for it is seven months since I had the last one. I am continuing the Vegetable Compound. I am feeling fine now."

This woman is the mother of six children with a large house to care for. Her name is MRS. ADOLPH BRATKE, 4316 South 13th St., South Omaha, Nebraska.

"Girls," she breathed, "the day I get the money, we'll have a most tremendous dinner at the Savoy, stalls at the Gaiety, three new evening frocks—turquoise blue for you, Kit-cat, rose du Barri for Jean, jade green for me. Yes, jade green, with bunches of misty purple grapes. I've seen it in Regent street, and silver shoes and—"

"Thanks, Dickie darling, you can supply the dinner and the stalls, but we'll buy our own frocks." Jean's kind eyes were a little misty. "You know five thousand pounds won't go so far as you imagine."

"Now," she went on soberly, "I would suggest War Man—"

"O, Jeanette, how depressing!" Kathleen broke in.

"It will bring in at least five pounds a week!" Richenda's voice rang out upon them. "Who wants five nasty, respectable, uninteresting pounds a week? Not I! I'm going to have the whole five thousand!" She laughed wickedly through the amazed silence which followed her words.

"But, O, Richenda," Kathleen Adams gasped in a thrilled whisper, "you don't mean that you are going to spend it!"

"But, Richenda, you couldn't—"

"It would be wicked—"

"Perfectly prodigal!"

"I never heard of such a thing!"

"And what'll you do when you get to the end of it?"

"Have you quite finished, my children?" said Richenda calmly.

"Yes—then, girls, I'm going to spend it!"

"But how?"

"Well, first by giving you two darlings a hundred each!"

"What nonsense!"

"As if we'd take it!"

"And next—O, girls, it thrills me to the soul—next, by doing the one thing I've longed to do all my life." She leaped suddenly to her feet, pirouetted wildly around a table, and turned on them with wide flung arms. "I shall travel!"

Excitement shone in all three pairs of eyes now. Kathleen and Jean had caught some of the infection of Richenda's jubilation and leaned forward a little breathlessly.

"Where?" they asked together.

"Where? O, everywhere! Places where the sun shines on hot gold desert sand, places where dark jungle runs down to palm fringed shores, places where snow capped, unexplored mountains cut up to a tropic sky. Those are the sorts of places I want to see. O—not Monte Carlo with its gaming tables, not Deauville, with its bath gown wrapped men and its pyramidal actresses posing for newspaper cameras on the seashore, not Paris with its tinsel boulevards and its leering Frenchmen. Not these. But all those other queer, wild, unwritten places where the sun shines hot and strange beasts lurk in black jungle. Those are the places I've longed to see—the places that five thousand pounds are going to let me see; O—oo—oo," she exclaimed fiercely, "I've been the correct secretary stenographer-typist long enough! I've been the average conventional young woman a sight too long! Now I'm going to be just the elemental Richenda Peterson that's never dared to reveal herself before!"

"Dickie, how lovely!" breathed a shining eyed Kathleen.

"Richenda, you're mad!" chided Miss Anderson.

But, mad or sane, Richenda stuck to her point. No—she would not save her cake. She would eat it—eat it and enjoy it and—devil the years that followed after!

"Well," said Miss Adams suddenly, "I suppose that now you will put an end forever to the lovelorn aspirations of John Charteris?"

"O, replied Richenda, growing a little pink, "I told John long ago that I could never marry him!"

"My child, perhaps some day when you have discovered that the wide world is not so wonderful as you thought it might be and that five thousand pounds will not keep you for a lifetime and that, in these days, there isn't a handsome prospective husband waiting for you round every corner, you may yet be glad to come home and lay your head on the comfortable, tobaccoey shoulder of the worthy John!" Kathleen's lips curled a little sarcastically now.

"I shan't! Kit, you little beast!" flared Richenda. "You know I will never marry John. I don't love him! O," she went on with heightened color, "when I marry I want to feel driven to it... urged... compelled by a great wave of fire in my heart. I want to meet my man fifty-fifty. I want Love—with a capital L, passion, too, everything that counts! And John is not the kind of man to whom I could give all that!"

"Then what kind of man could you give it to?" asked Kathleen.

Richenda's face flushed to crimson.

"What kind of man?" Kathleen fired the question again, then gazed in surprise at a strange new something in Richenda's face which held her attention, sat bold upright with her eyes suddenly brightening in fresh interest.

"Oh," Richenda began, broke off, laughed nervously, then: "Girls, I'm a superstitious owl," she said.

"My friends, there is more in this than meets the eye," observed the shrewd Miss Anderson.

Kathleen was smiling mischievously now. She drew Richenda suddenly down into the cretonne armchair by the little gas fire, placed herself on a squat footstool on the hearthrug, arms linked around her ankles, chin resting on her knees, her fair head cocked to an angle at which she could gaze straight into Richenda's eyes.

"The trinity always plays fair, Dick," she observed softly. "Who is he? What is he like? Where did you meet him?"

The dark girl laughed. "You two will think me mad," she began. "I can't give you an answer to the first question, for I simply don't know who he is."

They gasped, and she went on hastily: "But he's awfully nice to look at." She paused thoughtfully for a moment, then went on again: "He's got a wonderful face—I can't describe how wonderful—it is lean and brown and finely cut with a firm, rather thin lipped mouth and a pair of keen eyes under heavy black brows—that could make ice itself melt with fire."

Kathleen had found her voice again now: "Name! Name!" she demanded.

"I—don't—know."

"O Richenda," Jean's tones were disapproving, "have you met him?"

"Yes."

"Dick Peterson, you are not playing fair. Tell us all about it this minute!"

"Girls," Richenda's voice was halting still, "you'll think me an idiot, but—but—words rushed suddenly quicker now—"it's in my dreams. I see that face every few nights lately. He comes—often—"

"What does it mean?" her breath drew inward with a little frightened gasp. "I've never seen anybody like him in real life. Why does he come to me now—and so often—more than ever since John Charteris first asked me to marry him? I can't understand it. You know, before Aunt Agnes died, I had dreams—warnings. I knew something was going to happen. I've got this awful thing people call second sight. You know that..."

They nodded silently.

We'll stay in ATLANTA

THE FAMILY debate over the bid for father's services from a northern firm had raged for over a month. Statistics? James, lanky junior at Tech, had swallowed whole volumes, of the census report, graphed everything from weather to golf. Department store ads had been compared. Miriam, aged 7, wondered if there were any little girls where they were going. Letters from friends, with long discussions of schools, parks, weather, social life, urged them. Realtors wrote about houses.

The offer was a flattering one. The added thousand did look attractive. But father's income in Atlanta grew every year. The company was expanding.

"We'd make a profit on the home, if we sold," said father. "Jenkins offered me $15,000 right after Easter---that's $4,100 more than we paid."

"We can buy one in . . . for that," meditated mother, "but they're all on 50 small lots. There'd be no room for flowers, or gardens, just a little grass on each side of the walk. The house would be long, narrow and dark."

"They seem to have good shows," remarked the flapper daughter, who has shown less visible interest in the discussion than the rest, "but there's no style to the clothes, stores there advertise. And no opera to wear 'em to either."

"Keeping house would be more work," a tone of finality crept into mother's voice. "There would be no place for Aunt Sally to live within miles of us. Mary wrote me that she never pays less than $15.00 a week for a maid and can't keep one at that."

"We'll stay in Atlanta!" announced father.
